Republican Move To Probe German Zone Is Attacked

Kilgore Gives Criticism, Says War Department Backs Him; Meader Report Hit

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—A Republican decision to make public a staff investigator's "confidential" report on conditions in the American occupation zone of Germany today widened an already gaping party line split in the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.) criticized the decision by the four G.O.P. committee members—Brewster (Mo.), Ball (Minn.), Ferguson (Mich.) and Knowland (Calif.). He declared it is not a committee report, but one by a committee employee, and is based in part on "hearsay evidence."

In addition, Kilgore read reporters a letter from Secretary Patterson expressing the War Department's opposition to release of the report.

Distorted, He Says

"As written," Kilgore quoted Patterson as saying, "this report gives a distorted and frequently erroneous picture of the military government in Germany."

"From information available it appears that the subject matter of the report is based upon unsworn statements and in many cases upon hearsay evidence."

Despite the uproar, Kilgore told reporters he has not the slightest intention of resigning the chairmanship of the committee. Kilgore is due to be displaced by Senator Brewster, however, when Republicans take over majority control of the Senate next month.

Made Trip Abroad

The report in question was made by Committee Counsel George Meader after a trip to Germany. Purported extracts have been published in several quarters. The Republicans' principal argument for release of the entire report was understood to be that inaccurate impressions have been produced by the piecemeal leaks. On that premise, they gave copies to reporters yesterday with the stipulation that they could be made public Wednesday.

Kilgore said he did not know how portions of the report had become available earlier to "certain favored members of the press."

Some of Charges

Published accounts have declared the report contains charges of widespread misconduct by occupation troops, by Negro soldiers and German women of very high general disease rates, of low quality replacement troops, of an influx of large numbers of Jewish refugees into the American Zone, and of the refusal of many thousands of displaced persons to be repatriated from the American zone, where their care is being paid for by United States taxpayers.

Pans for hearings in Europe by a subcommittee were well advanced before the open appearance of opposition from the War and State Departments which finally resulted in cancellation of the inquiry.

When the matter finally came down to a committee vote last week the excursion was rejected 6-4. The Democratic majority voted solidly against it. The State and War Departments had made it known they considered the in-

U.S. to Seek Peace Plans For Austria

Byrnes and Bevin Give Joint Statement on Economic Merger in Germany

Tells Big Points

Says Foreign Ministers Could Wind Up Peace Treaties

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes, jointly announcing with Foreign Minister Bevin a British-American economic merger in Germany, declared today that he would ask the Big Four foreign ministers to discuss peace plans for Austria as well as Germany before ending their New York sessions.

Byrnes and Bevin said in a statement that the zone economic merger would become effective January 1, that it should make 40,000,000 Germans self-sufficient in three years and that they hoped it would lead to discussions with Russia and France for the economic unification of all Germany.

Byrnes discussed the radical new agreement, which diplomats consider the most important development in Allied policy on Germany since the occupation started, at a news conference. It was his first meeting with reporters since the Foreign Ministers Council opened here a month ago.

He made these major disclosures:

The Foreign Ministers Council, in his opinion, may wind up this week the peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland and proceed at once to a discussion of the German question.

On Germany, Byrnes intends to insist, and he had previously said he would, on a discussion of Germany's western frontiers—chiefly whether France should get the Saar and have the Ruhr internationalized.

(Diplomatic authorities said that, since French President-Francois Georges Bidault is not attending the New York four-powered meeting, France would oppose any such important talks on Germany here and the Big Four probably will agree to delay the boundary talks.)

The United States will ask that the Austrian question be taken up here. The main issue, diplomatic sources said, is whether an arrangement can be made for the early withdrawal of Russian and other Allied troops from Austria.

Adheres to Policy

Byrnes is adhering strictly to his policy—contrary to what the Russians want—that the Allied powers should not take any German reparations from the current German production. The Russians are known to want an agreement by which they might collect reparations for many years to come.

The probable result of the four-power talks on Germany here will be the appointment of a commission of deputies to do the spade work for a foreign ministers' meeting in Europe early next year. Byrnes will favor hearings on the German question for Belgium, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Luxembourg.

Woman Says Car Was Sideswiped By Another Auto

Mrs. Jessie Loder, of 165 Liberty street, Newburgh, reported to the sheriff's office about 3:15 this morning that as she and her sister, Mrs. Jerry Long, of Kingston, were driving toward Kingston from Saugerties their car was sideswiped by an approaching vehicle.

The other car, they said, did not stop after the accident. They were able to give only a meagre description of the car. Mrs. Long, who was driving, said she thought the other vehicle was wine colored and carried a 4-D license plate.

Mrs. Loder was thrown from the right front door of the car but was not seriously injured. She was treated for a sprained wrist by Dr. Gray, according to the report filed with the sheriff's office.

Upstate Papers Increase Prices

Home-Delivered Copies Are 30 Cents Per Week

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Six upstate New York daily newspapers today increased their newsstand prices from four to five cents a copy.

Increased production costs necessitated the action, publishers said.

Papers announcing the new rates were the Albany Evening Knickerbocker News, the Glens Falls Morning Post-Star, the Glens Falls Evening Times, the Gloversville and Johnstown Morning Herald, the Gloversville and Johnstown Evening Leader-Republican, and the Amsterdam Evening Record.

The price for home-delivered copies was increased from 24 to 30 cents per week.

The Syracuse Post Standard yesterday announced the price of its Sunday edition will be raised from 12 to 15 cents effective next Sunday.

Other newspapers which recently raised to five cents a copy include the Albany Morning Times, the Schenectady Morning Gazette, the Schenectady Evening Union-Star, the Troy Morning Record and the Troy Evening Times-Record.

Vishinsky Says Peace Policy Guides Russia; Rally Speaker

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Andrei V. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, says his country is guided by a policy of peace and stands ready to negotiate non-aggression, disarmament and commercial treaties with capitalist countries.

Speaking at a "get together with Russia" rally at Madison Square Garden last night, Vishinsky called for lifting "the iron curtain which hides the truth about the Soviet Union from the rest of the world."

Vishinsky said that Generalissimo Stalin expressed confidence as far back as 1927 that the Soviet could reach commercial agreements with capitalist states and added that "trade forms the basis for agreement."

"We need credits and the capitalists need returns on these credits," Vishinsky declared. He said the Soviet Union always pays promptly on its credits.

In regard to Russian foreign policy, Vishinsky declared "it is based on the principle of friendly and peaceful cooperation with all friendly states. Observe the work of the Soviet delegation at the General Assembly and you will understand what the foreign policy of the Soviet Union is."

Vishinsky criticized "false prophets" in the U. S. whom he charged with seeking to undermine mutual confidence and disrupt cordial relations between the Soviet Union and the U. S.

He said that Hearst, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) and others, including the New York Times military observer, had forecast defeat of the Soviet Union by Germany and declared that "I would not be wrong if I say that the defeat of Hitler's Germany was their defeat as well."

"Having suffered this defeat, these gentlemen have not calmed down and are still practicing their shameful trade to the detriment of their own country, though they consider themselves patriots," he said.

County Elections Commissioners Are Chosen at Session

Ellenville, Kingston Men Are Elected by Board Of Supervisors; to Resume Exams

Frederick R. Van Keuren of Ellenville and Joseph Epstein of Kingston have been named Commissioners of Election to serve for the year January 1, 1947 to December 31, 1947. In accordance with the Election Law, Republican County Chairman Arthur H. Wicks recommended Mr. Van Keuren and Democratic County Chairman Forman recommended Mr. Epstein for re-election and the two were chosen for the term at the session of the Board of Supervisors Monday evening.

Civil Service examinations for competitive and non-competitive jobs which have been suspended during the war because so many persons were away with the armed forces, will be resumed. In July 1944 competitive and non-competitive examinations were suspended and all appointments to positions have since been of a temporary nature. On motion of Supervisor Harry Snyder the 1944 resolution was rescinded and the County Civil Service Commission will be instructed to again hold examinations for competitive, non-competitive and promotional appointments.

Resolutions of the previous session were called up and adopted. Supervisors were distributed to all supervisors from the county districts containing the regulations which are now in effect for the conservation of coal during the coal strike. These circulars contain necessary instructions to carry out the conservation measures which have been proclaimed and will be distributed in the rural districts and villages for the benefit of business firms.

Clerk James A. Simpson announced that all supervisors must be in and the Committee on Supervisors' Bills met after the session to audit the bills.

A Republican caucus will be held Wednesday afternoon, December 4, at 4 o'clock and all Republican members of the Board are to attend.

The inspection of the T-B Hospital will be held on December 4 at 5:30 o'clock.

County Home inspection on December 5.

The Board adjourned to meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

House Committee Opens Hollywood Probe

Los Angeles, Dec. 3 (AP)—Investigation of alleged subversive activities in Hollywood will be opened today by a House committee in and the Committee on Un-American Affairs, whose chairman said Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, will be subpoenaed, if possible to testify concerning remarks he is reported to have made in Moscow.

Committee Chairman Rep. John S. Wood (D-Ga.) said he understood Roosevelt will be back in the States December 18, and: "I would like to know just what he said (in Moscow) if anything. Elliott has denied published reports he criticized American foreign policy."

Wood said a number of film colony figures will be called. The meetings will be closed, he added, because "the radicals gang up on us with their heckling."

College Student Missing in Vermont

Search Is Made for Girl, 18, Who Went on Hike at Bennington

Bennington, Vt., Dec. 3 (AP)—Students at exclusive Bennington College for Girls joined today in the search for blonde Paula Welden, attractive sophomore, who disappeared Sunday after telling classmates she was going for a hike.

While investigators said they had found nothing to indicate foul play, fear was expressed that the 18-year-old daughter of a Stamford, Conn., engineer might have become lost in the hilly woodlands surrounding the campus.

Freezing temperatures intensified the search as scores of volunteers joined on an appeal from the girl's father, W. Archibald Welden, an official of the Revere Copper and Brass Company.

About an inch of snow covered the hills and mountains in this area, and investigators said they had uncovered no fresh footprints that would tally with those of the Welden girl.

She was not dressed for the near-zero weather prevailing here—wearing only a red jacket, blue jeans and sneakers.

Welden discounted any theory that "my daughter may have had a love affair."

"It's true she knew many boys," he told newsmen, "but they were only chums and accompanied her to socials and dances. I know she was not serious."

"Extremely Quiet"

College officials described Paula as an "extremely quiet girl" and said she was intensely interested in botany and frequently went on walks in the woods alone.

Members of her botany class this morning led searches to several places that had been mentioned in study discussions. A cave on Mt. Anthony, about three miles from the campus, failed to reveal any trace of recent visitors.

Welden said that Paula's roommate, Elizabeth Johnson, had told him she appeared "happy and gay and mentioned nothing about trouble or a decision to quit school."

Paula is the eldest of four Welden girls—the others being Pamela, 16, Stephanie, 14, and Heather, 5.

State's Attorney William T. Jerome, Jr., who ordered the search, said that he did not believe the pretty, blonde girl was a victim of foul play.

Police quoted fellow students as saying that the girl told them she was going on a hike when they last saw her on the campus Sunday. They said she was wearing a red jacket and blue jeans and reported that she had "seemed depressed lately."

The girl's mother, Mrs. Archibald W. Welden, said that the family had not heard from her and had "no idea where she could have gone."

Firemen Subdue Fuel Oil Blaze at Brigham Brickyard

Fire in 10,000 Gallon Tank Is Overcome by Ulster Hose Company With $1,000 Damage

Ulster Hose Company fire fighters subdued a fierce blaze in a 10,000-gallon fuel oil tank on the Brigham Brothers brickyard in East Kingston about 8 o'clock last night.

The fire of unknown origin was discovered by George Woodworth, yard fireman, who spread the alarm. Quick response by Ulster Hose confined the fire to the small oil tank and prevented its spread to a huge 100,000-gallon tank nearby and the wooden kiln shed housing the entire brick plant.

Company officials estimated the damage at about $1,000 and agreed that the speedy work by Ulster Hose averted a $100,000 conflagration in keeping the flames away from the kiln shed and the larger tank.

Members of Ulster Hose received the assistance of neighbor volunteers and from the Kingston Fire Department which dispatched Deputy Matthews and a crew with Engine No. 1 from the central station with additional hose.

Fog Nozzle Used

The sharp biting wind reached almost gale proportions along the Hudson river water front and caused considerable concern in the early minutes of the battle against the fire. When Ulster Hose arrived on the scene the small oil tank was blazing and shooting dense clouds of smoke and flames high into the air. Chief Osterhoudt directed that the fog nozzle be used and the flames were brought under control.

Cold Hampers Work

The cold weather seriously hampered the work of the firemen. The water froze almost instantly as it hit the structure while the hose and other apparatus was coated with ice after the first few minutes.

There was one minor casualty among the regular fire fighters.

General Strike Begins in West, Threatens Transport Halt

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP)—An A.F.L.-called general strike went into effect at 5 a. m. (8 a. m. E.S.T.) today threatening a tie-up of transportation and industry for 1,000,000 East Bay persons and shutting off commuter service for 120,000 across the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

None of the early morning street cars left their barns and those which had operated on overnight schedules stopped running as the deadline approached.

The Key System commuter trains which daily carry thousands to work in San Francisco across the eight and one-half mile bay bridge did not leave their barns. Pickets patrolled around the plants of the Oakland Tribune and the Post-Inquirer as well as factories, stores, bars and restaurants. Alarmed city officials were considering a disaster emergency plan whereby citizens would volunteer to bring in food and other necessities.

"We don't want trouble but if others do, we're prepared," said Ralph York, acting city manager of Oakland.

Oakland's 500 police were put on 12-hour shifts and days off were cancelled.

The mass walkout stemmed from strikes at two department stores where the A.F.L. Retail Clerk's Union is seeking contracts. Police conveyed 12 truckloads of merchandise through picket lines to the two downtown stores Sunday.

Last night the A.F.L. Central Labor Council and A.F.L. Building Trades Council set in motion orders to crafts to "take a holiday" today.

The Alameda County C.I.O. Council announced that C.I.O. members would not pass through picket lines.

Union members arranged a permit system for deliveries to hospitals, institutions and emergency cases.

Penalties Are at Court Discretion

Lewis Calls U. S. Use of Injunction an 'Ugly' Act; Says It Deprives Miners

Is Free in 'Custody'

Lewis Is in Charge of His Counsel, Who Objects to Phraseology

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—John J. Lewis and his United Mine Workers were held "guilty of contempt of court" today for disregarding an order designed to avert the industry-shattering soft coal strike.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who handed down the historic verdict after five days of court proceedings, deferred sentence until tomorrow.

The penalties in fines or jail sentences are within the discretion of the court. The law sets no maxima or minima in contempt cases.

Opposing attorneys were directed by Judge Goldsborough to submit their recommendations tomorrow at 10 a. m. (E.S.T.).

The verdict was announced after Lewis making his first public appearance since before the 13-day-old strike, had spoken out against "this ugly recrudescence of government by injunction."

He referred to the court's restraining order directing him to withdraw his contract termination notice, which led to the strike, as "this ugly recrudescence of government by injunction."

In announcing his verdict, Goldsborough emphasized that Lewis was guilty both individually and as president of U.M.W., and that U.M.W. is separately guilty.

Then he said quietly that having found Lewis guilty of contempt, he considered the question of sentence "of course very important."

"While it may be somewhat unusual, but certainly not improper," he said, "the court would like to have the views of counsel for the defendants and counsel for the government as to what these sentences should be."

No Penalties Discussed

Neither the government nor defense lawyers would discuss with reporters the question of penalties.

When Lewis was asked for comment, he merely shook his head slightly and turned away.

After the judge announced his verdict, Lewis asked for and was granted permission to make a statement.

"The history of labor injunctions prior to 1932 is a sordid one," Lewis began in somber tones.

It was Lewis' first public statement since before the soft coal strike began on November 20.

Lewis stood facing the Judge, with his broad back to the crowded courtroom.

After reviewing a history of government statutes forbidding courts to restrain strikes, he turned quickly to coal strike issues and inveighed against "the deadly brutal 34-hour work week in American coal mines."

Says U. M. W. Impelled

Lewis asserted the U.M.W. had been impelled to its contract termination of its contract with the government on November 15. This

Ringwald Writes History of Old Boat That Plied Hudson

In the November issue of "Marine News", a publication devoted to marine engineering, shipbuilding, ship repairs, operation and naval architecture, there appears an article by Donald C. Ringwald, employed by Eastern Airlines at LaGuardia Field, on the old "City of Kingston" which sailed the Hudson river from 1884 to 1889 when she was purchased and went to the west coast.

The article is the twelfth of a series on famous ships of the merchant marine which have been written exclusively for the Marine News by members of the Steamboat Historical Society of America.

Although the "City of Kingston" ran but a short time on the Hudson river, she was a "widely traveled" ship in her day, being sold in 1889 to the Puget Sound & Alaska Steamship Company where she entered the Puget Sound-Alaska run, serving until April 23, 1899 when she was sunk in a collision with an outboard ship the "Glenogle" on Puget Sound at the entrance to Tacoma's Commencement Bay.

Mr. Ringwald's article contains a complete history of the "City of Kingston" from the time of her design by Cornell Steamboat Company as a passenger-freight ship to replace the sidewheeler Thomas Cornell, which had been wrecked on Danskammer Point on March 27, 1882, through her construction at the Harlan & Hollingsworth Company plant at Wilmington, Del., where she was launched on March 11, 1884, and on through her career on the Hudson river, her sail down to Rio and through the Straits of Magellan into the Pacific and up the coast to Puget Sound and to Alaska.

Sleeping accommodations were provided for 250 passengers aboard the 246 foot vessel, and, for her day she was luxuriously furnished, being provided with a "bridal chamber" and elaborately furnished. In his article Mr. Ringwald, a son of Charles A. Ringwald of 93 West O'Reilly street who is head janitor at Kingston High School, will be found complete details as to the construction and equipment of the vessel with numerous pictures of the "City of Kingston" as she plied the river and later on the west coast. Also there is contained in the article numerous interesting items of the career of the "City of Kingston" on the Hudson, her several accidents on the river, her challenges to other craft for record runs from New York to Kingston and other interesting facts which Kingstonians and old river men will delight in again having.

The U.S.S.R.

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 3 (AP)—Although the Communist party in Russia, with roughly 6,000,000 members, has, to put it mildly, enormous influence, it does not and cannot govern or assume any authority over the laws or citizens of the Soviet Union.

It can pass no laws as such, nor can it repeal them. It can issue no orders of conscription, declare no wars, make no pacts or agreements with other countries, and issue no orders to the police. It is not the government of the U.S.S.R.

But large numbers of Soviet people in the government are members of the party. If the Communist party does not govern, then what does it do?

It gives directives to the government. There has been no occasion I know of when the government has gone against what the party thinks is good for the U.S.S.R. and its people. The party prides itself on being of the masses and hence close to their wants and needs.

If you ask a party member why there is only one party in Russia, he probably will tell you that political parties are an expression of class interests and that the Russian people have a class interest—that of building Socialism; hence, he argues, there is no reason for another party.

To get into the Communist party one has to appear as an applicant, with the recommendation of several members, the number required varying. The application is studied carefully, along with the applicant's character, including such questions as to whether he is motivated by self-interest.

The candidate must wait for a year before he is accepted—if he is accepted—although during the war this was shortened for persons who had especially distinguished themselves on the field of battle.

Today the emphasis is on bringing younger blood into the party, and the applicants run into several thousand.

Once a person is a member and the recipient of a party card, he must carry out all duties and assignments, be a model citizen, a leader and an inspirer of his fellow-workers. He must live a spotless life of relative simplicity and he must study, study, study.

Members of the party I know—and I know hundreds of them—

Lewis and Miners
Are Held Guilty

step led to the coal strike and the contempt proceeding against Lewis and the U.M.W.

Previous to his statement Lewis had sat in rock-like silence, hardly shifting his bulk as he listened to government testimony that he broke off his contract illegally and caused a strike which already has thrown thousands out of work in coal-consuming industries and may have 5,000,000 idle if it lasts another month and a half.

Other dire results, if the strike lasts that long, were forecast by officials of the Commerce, Treasury and Interior Departments summoned as government witnesses in yesterday's closing moments of court. They told the court:

That national production would drop 20 percent, while 80 percent of the first-class railroads would stop running.

That national income would fall from a rate of $170,000,000,000 a year to $150,000,000,000.

That such an income slump would cost the government more than $5,000,000,000 in tax revenue.

That the economy would "suffer a collapse" if the strike lasted until March.

Girding for a possible long fight, the government moved to bring more gas into the fuel-starved eastern and central states by the Big and Little Inch pipelines. Secretary of the Interior Krug said natural gas would start flowing eastward from Texas in "five or six days."

But officials of the Texas Railroad Commission said Krug was optimistic. They said it might be six months before the pipelines, built for oil, could be converted to gas conveyors.

And the gas they can supply will amount in heat capacity to only about 6,000 tons of coal a day compared with the more than 2,000,000 tons the miners normally dig daily.

Krug told a House committee his plans call for four months emergency use of the pipelines for gas.

There was every indication that no move toward negotiations between Lewis and the mine owners would come from a meeting of the Southern Coal Producers Association here to discuss policy.

Instead, talk continued that some of the 29 directors favored removing Edward R. Burke as their president as a penalty for his statement last Thursday that the operators were ready and willing to talk with Lewis about wages, hours and any other demands. One official said an ouster was unlikely but that a statement, in effect rebuking Burke for the timing of his remarks, might be issued.

Rankin Quotes Truman
Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), after calling on President Truman, quoted the President as saying he would "present to Congress the strongest message he knows how to prepare" in favor of strike control measures.

McCarthy Urges Action
Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), proposed that Lewis and his legion of coal miners be drafted into the army and ordered to dig coal under penalty of court martial for refusal.

Judge Goldsborough assigned to himself a major role in today's courtroom performance. He announced that he would summon as witness a court reporter who would read into the trial record a week-old statement of U.M.W. counsel—a statement on which alone Lewis may be found guilty or innocent of contempt.

The statement was made by U.M.W.'s chief lawyer, Welly K. Hopkins. It said Lewis and the union "have done no act nor spoken any word" to comply with Judge Goldsborough's November 18 restraining order requiring Lewis to retract his no-contract notice which touched off the strike. The admission was made in Hopkins reply to government charges in the judge's pre-trial hearing.

Would Ask Question
The judge said he would ask one question of the reporter: Has Lewis, in the trial, made any statement (through attorneys) concerning that vital piece of evidence? As matters stand, he warned, it leaves Lewis "in the technical position of a contempt of court."

The contempt charge is based on grounds that Lewis disregarded the order.

Secretary Krug put the finishing touch to the government's case late yesterday. He testified that he tried unsuccessfully, in four private conversations with Lewis to get the miners' chief to open negotiations with the soft coal operators as a first step in restoring the mines to private operation. They were seized by the government last spring to end a 59-day strike.

Sole result of his efforts, Krug said, was that Lewis served notice on November 13 that the U.M.W.-government contract would end five days later—the date the strike began.

Never Heard Suggestion
Until October 19, when U.M.W. raised the point, Krug said he had never heard the suggestion made that the contract might be voided by a single party. His testimony supported the government claim that the contract is valid and enforceable as long as the government remains in possession of the coal mines, and that the walkout therefore is illegal.

Instead of the eleven witnesses scheduled, the government contented itself with eight. Union lawyers have not divulged their prospective list, so there is little to indicate how long the trial now in its fourth day of testimony may last.

member firms as phoned its offices "to open for business as usual whether employees show up or not."

The 28 Oakland stores in the Retail Merchants' Association, none of which has a union contract, planned to open as usual.

J. B. St. Pierre, association attorney, said, "Two of the 28 were the struck stores, Kahn's and Hastings."

The police action of Sunday was termed "high-handed and discriminatory" by spokesmen of the A.F.L. Central Labor Council.

Some unions were informed that the retaliatory action was a 24-hour "holiday." But a notice posted in shops of the Key System commuter and local lines said "a general strike has been called."

James F. Galliano, attorney for the A.F.L. Central Labor Council, said the action was in protest against "a city government which allowed itself to be used as a tool of Oakland's sacred cow, the Retail Merchants' Association."

He said arrangements had been made by the A.F.L. Council "whereby registered pharmacists, retail milk drivers, hospital help, sanitation employees and other employees in essential service" would remain on their jobs.

Roosevelts Go to South Russia for Week or So

Moscow, Dec. 3 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt and his actress wife, Faye Emerson, were enroute to south Russia today on an eight to 10-day trip which should just about conclude their visit to the Soviet Union.

Before leaving late last night, Roosevelt called on Lt. Gen. W. B. Smith, the American ambassador, and gave his version of the pull-out "off the record" discussion he had at an American party shortly after reaching Moscow.

Roosevelt is said to have reiterated that he had not accused or involved the U. S. Embassy or officials here in the discussion at the reception, or had blamed them for publication of what he termed an inaccurate version of the incident.

It was Roosevelt's second call on the ambassador since arriving in Russia.

What view Gen. Smith took of the explanation was not disclosed. Roosevelt said he had been promised a retraction by the correspondent who sent the story in which he was alleged to have involved the embassy and officials.

Roosevelt, who had planned to leave Moscow around December 7, said he wished to travel through Poland and, if time permitted, to spend a day or two in Dublin. He said he expected to be back in Hyde Park, N. Y., by Christmas.

Caraway Trial Enters Second Day at Mineola

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—The first degree murder trial of Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old Negro, went into its second day today with strong indications that the defense would center about an attempt to prove that Caraway was not of sound mind at the time of the murder of Mrs. Marjory Church Logan.

Defense Counsel James D. C. Murray, said in his opening statement yesterday that Caraway was "not in a mental state to be guilty of premeditated murder" and was "never too stable mentally."

District Attorney James N. Gehrig said he would try to link the robbery and murder of Mrs. Logan, 52-year-old society matron, with the robbery and shooting of her daughter, Marjory Jeanne Logan, 27. Gehrig said he would prove the slaying was "a felony murder and also a premeditated murder."

Judge Henry J. A. Collins announced after a discussion between opposing counsel with the jury out of the courtroom that the court would not receive testimony as to the alleged rape of Miss Logan. At the time of the shooting Miss Logan told police Caraway had attacked her.

Japanese Unemployed Now Have Union

Tokyo, Dec. 3 (AP)—Japan's unemployment—or part of them—now have a union.

Representatives of jobless repatriates have set up an organization as yet unnamed and announced today plans to enroll 3,200,000 former soldiers, sailors and civilians returned from abroad.

Their platform of 17 demands upon the government includes special issues of food and clothing this winter.

Bilbo Election
Scrutiny Widens:
Negroes Deprived?

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 3 (AP)—Senatorial scrutiny of Senator Theodore G. Bilbo's primary campaign was broadening today into an investigation of the handling of would-be negro voters in Mississippi local officials.

The investigating senators under the chairmanship of Sen. Ellender (D., La.) prepared to hear what several of these officials had to say about allegations that negroes were systematically deprived of voting rights in the primary.

Officials in seven counties were mentioned yesterday in testimony by about 30 negro witnesses. The negroes' complaints fell into these categories:

Advice allegedly given, in some cases by officials, that persistent attempt to register or vote would bring "trouble."

Obstacles said to be placed in the way of negroes registering to vote—although several witnesses said they were registered when they persisted.

Challenges to their ballots when they were cast, so that witnesses complained they never learned whether their votes were counted.

Several witnesses said they thought the alleged intimidation attempts were directly connected with a campaign statement attributed to Bilbo—that the best way to keep negroes from voting was to "see them the night before."

Bilbo himself, who attended most of the day's session apparently unperturbed and sporting his usual red tie and diamond studpin, afterwards characterized the proceedings as a "hoop."

"They haven't connected me with a thing," he said.

Bilbo will be asked to begin presenting testimony Thursday, Sen. Ellender said.

12 Bodies Taken
From Plane Wreck
On Vosges Summit

Belford, France, Dec. 3 (AP)—Twelve charred bodies have been extricated from the wreckage of a plane that crashed yesterday on the eastern slope of the Ballon D'Alsace Peak in the Vosges Mountains. Gendarmerie Headquarters said today.

The wreckage was burned so badly that the searching party could not identify the plane, believed to be a French Army transport from Germany, nor ascertain the identity, age or sex of the victims, the announcement said.

The plane, if properly identified, had 13 passengers listed as being aboard.

Flying over the Vosges in a storm, it apparently was caught in air currents.

A motorcyclist going through the storm along a mountain road saw the flames and spotted the wreckage at the edge of a chasm.

The first four bodies recovered were brought down last night. The party which brought them in said a child's shoe, women's clothing and German occupation money had been found strewn about the wreckage.

The French Air Ministry said that "a French base in Germany" reported last night the loss of one of its military transport planes with 13 persons aboard.

PRICE AND QUALITY

It is obvious that the cost of a product, important as that is, does not entirely determine its value. Quality is a very vital factor. To take a fictional example, a shirt which costs three dollars and will last a year in normal use is a much better buy than a shirt which costs two dollars and comes back in tatters after a few launderings.

During recent years, we have been forced to accept a very definite decline in the quality of thousands of commodities. Reputable manufacturers and retailers did not want to produce and sell poorer products. But war shortages and substitutions left them no other course. And the now defunct O.P.A. also made the production of inferior goods unavoidable in a long list of instances.

Now, according to reliable reports, this situation is rapidly changing for the better. And the retail merchants of America will deserve much of the credit due. They are specifying standards for goods which will assure the buyer the best possible value per dollar spent. Retail associations are urging their members to stress quality, and to prepare for the return to the time when a "buyers' market" will once more exist.

This will come as no surprise to anyone familiar with the history of retailing in America. Its policy has always been maximum value plus maximum service. It pursues that policy in good times and bad, in times of low prices and in times of high prices. That is typical of all free, competitive enterprise.

LIBRARY SERVES ALL

The small business man in the small community is to have free and ready access to materials on which to base his postwar operations if a plan goes through promulgated by the American Library Association.

Since many large municipal libraries as well as industrial firms have at hand material for marketing, vocational and production research, the plan aims particularly to pool resources in small communities. Inter-library loans and book-mobles would make the material available anywhere, even to farmers on isolated farms and ranches. This business service is one phase of the association's postwar planning, which aims to take library facilities to the 35,000,000 Americans now without them.

No longer is a library a mausoleum for books, visited only by the unworldly pedant. The American Library Association has seen its job to be one in which it carries its wares to the people instead of waiting for them to come to it. This small community business service is another example of the library's constant effort at practical contribution toward the everyday life of the American people.

SANITARY SANTA CLAUS

No more may a department store Santa Claus lift a goggle-eyed visiting child on his knee—unless the kindly saint is wearing white gloves, and clean ones at that. Santa Claus may not kiss any credulous child babbling his hopes for an airplane or a baseball bat into the good man's ear.

So says the law in Newark, N. J., and the health officer is going to make the rounds to see that the Kris Kringles obey. Further, no Santa may have the job until he first passes a blood and skin test and has his chest X-rayed. His whiskers must be clean, his clothes spotless.

ONE CUSTOMER

Slowly the octopus characteristics of government-created and owned cartels are strangling our trade, because in each country and in some commodities, for the entire commodity, there is only one customer—a government agency. As a matter of practical organization of the movement of products, few individual business houses have the capital or credit, outside of the United States, to engage in foreign trade without government assistance. And the extremely unbusinesslike loan arrangements made between governments during the war have disturbed private reservoirs of capital for such purposes.

The American cotton crop, for instance, used to be sold to a large number of buyers in England at a cotton exchange in Liverpool. Today there is only one buyer, the British government, which can put upon us all the pressures of a censored system. Similarly, the African cocoa crop, much of which is sold to the United States, has been cartelized. There is one seller who may withhold the crop or force it upon the market, juggling prices to suit himself, the government handling the crop as part not only of its economic but also its political policy. The same is true of raw rubber, which is still an essential of the American economy.

The Department of Commerce reports an increase of shipments abroad, but it does not indicate whether the shipments are sales or gifts; that is, whether the exports are paid for by the purchaser or are paid for by American credits for which there will never be repayments. Gifts are not foreign trade. Unrepayable loans are gifts—or, to use a less pleasant word in the exchange of goods, they are charity.

Soviet Russia has always dealt with us on the basis of a one-customer transaction, namely, that all business was done through Amtorg, which is a government buyer and seller. At no time has competition entered into these relationships. During the war, Lend-Lease was substituted for Amtorg transactions, but as Lend-Lease has been a gift to Russia by the United States, except for the fractional reverse Lend-Lease, these transactions cannot be regarded as part of our foreign trade. The goods were paid for by the American taxpayer and in most instances he was shipping out goods which he sorely required for himself and for which he paid.

Similarly U.N.R.R.A. has been shipping huge volumes of goods, particularly food products and clothing, to countries in Eastern Europe and China which are a gift from the American taxpayer. These goods are generally handed over to the governments of the countries in question and often are sold to the recipients. They cannot be included in our foreign trade because the United States is the buyer and disposes of the goods as a gift. It is really a domestic transaction.

When we face a single seller or a single customer, it is impossible for American businesses to negotiate transactions because the credits are established by government and the debts take on the characteristics of an inter-governmental agreement. In too many of these transactions, prices are fixed by government treaties, the buyers and sellers being forced either to accept the government price or to accept a subsidy, often so hidden in a maze of regulations that the businessman does not know exactly where he gets off.

Americans will find it increasingly more difficult to do business in a "one-customer" or "one-seller" market and ultimately, when controls are removed in this country altogether and the government is a smaller factor in direct business, Americans will have to find a way, if they want foreign trade at all, to circumvent these government agencies which can deal only with other government agencies. The 18-nation conference on foreign trade next spring might be helpful.

The alternative is economic isolationism and while that is no threat to us in the present circumstances of our domestic market, it is a positive threat to the very existence of those countries which are short of such goods as only the United States can supply. They have become so accustomed to transactions with this country during the war, on their own terms, that they fail to realize that in peacetime our mood might change.

TUBERCULOSIS AND CANCER

As recently as 1920 the death rate from tuberculosis was more than twice as high as it is today. Thus for infants the death rate in 1920 was 65 per 1,000, and today it is less than 30. This great decrease in deaths from tuberculosis is because physicians are better equipped by means of the X-ray and other measures, to discover tuberculosis early, and applying the necessary treatment.

While these figures showing the gradual stamping out of tuberculosis are encouraging it is discouraging to read about the death rate in cancer. During the same twenty years in which the death rate in tuberculosis decreased more than fifty per cent, the chances of infants finally dying of cancer increased over fifty per cent.

In the Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company we read "The greatest probability of eventually dying of tuberculosis is found rather early in life at about ages 5 to 15. In cancer the greatest probability of death is about the ages of 50 for males, and 35 for females."

Another striking feature in contrasting the death rates or rates in tuberculosis and in cancer is the change in the relative positions of the two causes of death. Whereas the chances of eventual death from cancer or from tuberculosis were practically equal for the new born in 1920, by 1940 the cancer death rate was 3 1/2 times greater than tuberculosis. In 1920 the chances for new born females eventually dying of cancer were only 1-2 1/2 times those from tuberculosis; by 1940 they were 6 1/2 times as great.

Of course there is the fact that our present average life span is much longer than it was in 1920. Health conditions today will permit a much larger proportion of persons than formerly to enter the older ages where the death rate from cancer is at its highest.

While the facts about the death rate in cancer are discouraging "by the development of new instruments and method of diagnosis science has made it possible to find cases of cancer earlier," and early cancer is curable.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—I am up to my ears in the milk of human kindness.

Strangers smile at me. Taxi drivers say "sit." If I bump into men loaded with bundles, they say "excuse me." I give my seat to a lady in the subway, and she says "thank you" loud and clear and steps carefully to keep from mauling my tarsal bone.

I drop and lose my nickel in a stack of papers and the newsies say "don't worry" instead of "bum, ya." Nightclub waiters don't try to short change me. My wife even has cooked steak twice in a week.

And why? Just because the last page of the calendar is all that is left to hide last summer's flyspecks on twenty million kitchen walls. Santa Claus is coming!

Everybody goes crazy at once. Bill collectors quit dunning you, divorce lawyers pull in their shingles. "Distol Packin' Mama" goes out of the juke boxes and in comes "Silent Night, Holy Night." The nation's heart beats to Auld Lang Syne.

The widow and her kids get a free meal, all the forgotten and the lonely of the land are remembered. The people think of the veterans in the hospitals, the veterans unhouse and out of work—and give their sacrifices sober moods.

Goodness laps around us in a universal tide. The poor man puts his foot off the barrel, and takes his knees on the altar rail, co-equal with the rich man. The church collects enough to fix a leaky roof.

For one mighty day all enlist together in the mystic brotherhood of man, and nobody kids Brooklyn or Yonkers. Hate takes a holiday. Love has us all in a double Nelson.

But Santa comes and goes. The fire of human kindness dies into afterglow. The warmth ebbs away before the first robin arrives.

Neighbor and neighbor get back to the old business of bumping, bruising, the butcher puts an extra thumb on the scales again, and no lady says "pardon" at the crowded soap sale counter. The guy who gave the widow her Christmas drumsticks comes around with a mortgage fore-

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The death of R. Lionel DeLisser in Munich, Bavaria, on September 16, 1907, recalls to my mind the publication of Picturesque Ulster, which was written and illustrated by Mr. DeLisser during the years he was a resident of Kingston.

Mr. DeLisser was an artist of note, and also won fame as a photographer. Every photo printed in the issues of Picturesque Ulster are gems.

The idea back of the publication was to publish a series of books, each book devoted to a town in the county of Ulster. I have in my collection the three books devoted to the city of Kingston, as well as several books of some of the towns.

In the Kingston collection of photographs life in Kingston in the Gay Nineties is pictured through the eye of the camera. Many of the buildings portrayed have long since been torn down, and many are still standing.

The books were published by Styles & Bruyn Publishing Co. of this city.

Undoubtedly there are many readers of this column who possess some of the books, and some may have the complete edition.

And while on the subject of books I have a small paper bound book of poems written by DeWitt Hasbrouck of central Broadway. He lived in a little yellow house almost opposite the municipal auditorium, and made a living by making candy and selling lunches to the employees of the old American Cigar factory.

The books contain about 20 poems on various subjects and Mr. Hasbrouck sold a number of copies to the boys and girls who worked in the cigar factory in the years at the turn of the century.

Later Mr. Hasbrouck was employed at the Ningo Hollow dynamite works on the other side of the Rondout creek.

It was on August 10, 1907, while Mr. Hasbrouck was walking the West Shore tracks on his way to cross the Wilbur railroad bridge that he was struck and killed by a train. Mr. Hasbrouck in the later years of his life had been afflicted by deafness, and authorities believed that he did not hear the approaching train until it was too late to get off the tracks.

In November of 1907, the contract to build the present factory of Van Slyke & Horton on Deckerick street, was awarded to John Dyer of Albany, according to an old newspaper clipping.

The new factory was to be built of brick and was to be four stories in height with a basement.

The close of the high school football season the other day, with Kingston winning the DUSO League championship, will recall to the mind of older readers the classics that were staged each Thanksgiving Day between the teams of old Kingston Academy and Ulster Academy.

The 1907 game was a thriller and ended with a scoreless tie. The Kingston Academy players that day were Herrick, Woolsey, Baster, Bernstein, Monroe, Brinner, Clemens, Cole, Tobey, Dadds, Kaufman, and Horsfall.

The Ulster players were Arnold, Murphy, Connelly, Cole, Williams, Finley, Powell, Hamberger, Rowland, Cashin and Ormerod.

This will be the last of the series of sketches for some time as the writer expects to win that famous club known as "Dad I Ever Tell You About My Operation." If all goes well the sketches will be resumed when he is able to return to his typewriter.

Two Questions Are Uppermost Regarding Soft Coal Strike—Will President Act? Will Prosecution Get Out Coal?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 3—Testimony by government witnesses that the American people and their industries face a catastrophe if the coal strike isn't settled soon has served to focus attention once more on the White House.

If the President waiting for the contempt case to be decided before making a move to bring coal out of the ground? Will prosecution of the miners' union mine coal?

These two questions have been asked again and again hereabouts, but senators on both the Republican and Democratic side are beginning to point to President Truman as the man who must give the answer and make the next move by calling Congress into extra session.

Mr. Truman is represented as being unwilling to do this and as believing there is time enough to the new Congress deal with the whole problem in January.

Yet the evidence in the contempt trial offered by the government itself indicates that there isn't time. Certainly it would be dangerous to wait till January and then dump the whole thing into the lap of a Congress which hardly will be able to organize immediately.

There are beginning to be rumors that the President is playing politics with the situation and that he is deferring action till the January session because he doesn't want the Democratic Congress to take political responsibility for the drastic legislation that would have to be passed in order to get coal mined.

There is only way to get coal mined and that is for the government to get legislation from Congress permitting the draft of all miners for service in the armed forces. The draft law is still on the statute books and an amendment thereto could be passed overnight.

This is the same solution that Mr. Truman himself advocated in connection with the railroad strike last spring. It will be recalled that the House of Representatives passed the legislation by overwhelming vote. The measure died in the Senate. Mr. Truman was bitterly criticized for the proposal, as the rail strike was settled and the crisis he visualized didn't materialize.

The President is afraid the same thing may happen again. Lewis insisted that a settlement while a special session of Congress debates the issue and Mr. Truman would again be accused of having dealt a severe blow to the cause of organized labor.

The draft bill was vehemently fought by labor and by Republicans as well as by Democrats. They insisted that it would be "involuntary servitude" to compel the miners to mine coal, but the answer given to this argument was that, when the national safety is impaired, the state can call on any able-bodied man to prevent a national disaster impends if the coal isn't mined.

The power of the Federal Government to call on any group of citizens to help preserve the state is admitted within the constitution. Congress can provide for handling domestic insurrection and so can the states of the union.

Virginia has a law which permits the governor to draft workers in any industry for the state militia. When an electric power strike was threatened, the governor of Virginia announced that workers in the plants would be drafted into the state militia and ordered to continue at work.

This is a drastic use of governmental power but when the public welfare is at stake, as it is in time of domestic violence or war, the provocation to use such power is great.

Legislation of this type might be of a temporary character because it would not be necessary again to use the draft power if later union "closed shops" were prohibited and if compulsory arbitration were required by Congress for disputes in industries essential to the maintenance of the national health and safety. If the coal strike is settled before draft legislation becomes necessary, it will be necessary to prevent any union from achieving economic power of such magnitude as to imperil the life of the people.

WE HELP COMMUNIZE EUROPE
Stalin's right arm, the American Fifth Column, with its powerful influence and channels of communication, has simply gone wild promoting the Red cause. The left-wing press unanimously is picturing the British as oppressors, terrorists, Nazi-like killers, Fascists, anti-Semites. You are expected soon to be hating British soldiers as if they were swastikas and heeled Hitler. A movie is on its way which will picture British soldiers in Palestine in the same role as Nazi soldiers in Germany were pictured not long ago. Ben Hecht's play, "A Flag Is Born," is so effective in this direction that British protests are growing; this one play may be worth a major military victory for Stalin.

Under the guise of denazifying Germany we are in fact Balkanizing it. This condemnation of the two outstandingly democratic countries of the world—Britain and America—came from a spokesman at the Vatican. It is a terrible pronouncement because it is true.

Our occupation forces simply sit on the starving German people and do little to give them hope that they may soon set up their own government, start up trade and industry and regain self-sufficiency and self-respect.

Our policy, at least as it is being administered, still smacks of the Morgenthau school for complete debasement of the German race, priming it for Marxism. Britain's policy reflects the same influence. The British labor government has been boasting recently of its plan to nationalize German industry. Let's call it by its right name: Socialism. Note the device being used to disguise this plan: The propagandists say, "We are at last taking the war-making potential away from the terrible German Junkers."

But Germany's war-making potential long ago was smashed. Steel and other basic industries now are whittled down so small they can't provide the people a decent standard of living—homes, trucks, automobiles, clothing—to say nothing of making tanks.

Under guise of taking war industries away from the Junkers the revenge-bent pro-Marxists are planning to take all industrial property away from all its owners. Russia will thank them for this free ride.

As Britain moves toward such socialization of industry we encourage a new German trade union already embraces 1,000,000 members in all crafts and professions, including teachers and journalists. It is today the only powerful machine capable of unifying German thought and action. If we now tell the people to get busy and rule themselves, the new government may find itself dominated by a German CIO-PAC.

Karl Marx had a word for this kind of government: "Dictatorship of the proletariat."

Aside from the inhuman principle of devastating and debasing a whole people—the moral right of which I challenge—we are stark crazy for thus preparing the Germans to look with favor on our friendly offer from the Soviets.

While we keep Germany down, Stalin raises up an increasingly strong ally. French Communists are secretly increasing their program of arming their underground. The Balkans are now highly organized and militarized under the Red banner. Greece is threatened.

New Danger

But the most dangerous situation lies in the fact that the Communists have at last found a United States and Britain. The Palestine issue is the fuse. If American can be made to hate Britain sufficiently then Stalin can safely bring about a blow-up in Palestine and send his armies to take the Dardanelles and all the Middle East—because Britain, without our diplomatic and at least the threat of our military support, cannot afford to fight.

Look how Stalin is playing the game: He is refusing aid to Jews to Russia but is helping them get into Palestine, thus putting more and more Jews in Britain. Meanwhile violent anti-Semitism among the Arabs. Make no mistake about it, this is the most dangerous propaganda campaign Moscow has yet launched. We are going to see whether or not our legitimate American free press can withstand the impact of the combined Red propaganda channels. (Copyright 1946 by John F. Dille Co.)

Famed Diamond Mine

Johannesburg — A closed mine since the 1932 depression, the mine where the two-and-a-half-pound Cullinan crown diamond was found in 1905 is to open again in view of an improved world market. Nine hundred million gallons of water that had covered diamond-bearing clay in the mine-wide, 600-foot-deep hole, was pumped away, and new shafts are being sunk. A yearly output of upward of a million carats is expected.

Ex-Husband Will Help Wife Fight Stabbing Charge

Reno, Nev., Dec. 3 (AP)—Defended by lawyers provided by her estranged husband, a former New Jersey man was called to trial today on a charge that she stabbed to death a former navy man Sept. 25 with a war trophy bayonet during a hotel room quarrel.

The state prepared to place in evidence the blood-stained bayonet which prosecutors said was found in a closet of a room the woman, Mrs. Mary Drew, 31, allegedly had been sharing with William H. Appleton.

The state charges that Mrs. Drew, of Paterson, N. J., killed the 24-year-old former Clifton, N. J., man after they had concluded a round of Reno night club.

Elmer Drew, 39, of Paterson, who was married to the defendant in 1935, was divorced in 1942, remarried in 1944 and became separated last spring, came to Mrs. Drew's aid and arranged for her attorneys. Drew is an assistant service manager at a Paterson garage.

After Appleton was found dying in a hallway of the hotel, officers arrested Mrs. Drew in a nearby hotel room, reporting they found her in bed, fully clothed. She pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

Police Detective Gene Cowan will be a witness. He quoted Mrs. Drew, shortly after her arrest, as saying she became "tired of him (Appleton) beating me up."

Candelora Kills Self in Hotel Room

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Joseph Candelora, 57-year-old grandfather, killed himself in a mid-town hotel room while being sought as the man who shot Mrs. Lydia Spillman, 38, after she spurned his attentions, police said last night.

Mrs. Spillman, mother of three, is in serious condition with a bullet wound in the chest. Nassau county police said she told them that Candelora, a neighbor in Floral Park, Long Island, shot her while she was parking her car when she told him to go away from her.

Candelora's body was found in his room by a maid. Police said he shot himself in the temple.

Railroaders Give Cash to Give Eyes To Child, Aged 2

San Francisco, Dec. 3 (AP)—Two-year-old Mary Marlene Green will see her first Christmas tree this holiday season. And she already knows who Santa Claus is—some Southern Pacific Railroad men.

Money collected among sympathetic S.P. workers made possible the removal of congenital cataracts and yesterday she left Stanford Hospital with her mother, Mrs. Dewey Green, of Greenfield, whom she saw for the first time. She went home for her first sight of two sisters and her father, a mechanic.

Also awaiting her wonder-filled eyes was her puppy, "Daisy." A month ago she was given the puppy at a Soledad depot. Ernest Hiehle, S.P. telegrapher, noticed that she groped for it. Thus made aware she was blind, the trainman started a collection.

"I don't even know the names of all the men who made this miracle possible," the mother said yesterday but Mary Marlene will go to see them later.

"And this time, she'll really see," exclaimed the overjoyed Mrs. Green.

Sect Members Face Manslaughter Counts

Easton, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP)—William Focht, 55, and his 46-year-old wife, Ada, were under indictment on involuntary manslaughter charges today in the death of their two-year-old son.

Northampton County Grand Jury ordered the two held for trial December 11 on the charge after County Coroner Dr. D. F. Bachman testified the couple refused to call a doctor for their son, Edwin James, who fell into a can of boiling water last September.

Dr. Bachman told the jury the boy would have had a 50-50 chance of recovering if he had been given prompt medical aid. The Fochts, he said, belong to a sect which opposes medical attention.

More than eighty per cent of the diamonds produced last year were for industrial use only.

Dr. Hahn Declares Reich Had No A-Bomb

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—Prof. Otto Hahn, Nobel Prize winner in chemistry for 1944, told reporters today that Germany never was likely to have produced an atomic bomb during World War II.

The German scientist said German research had reached the stage of a parting of the ways between the atomic bomb and atomic energy. He said German scientists chose atomic energy and were trying to find a new form of energy for military purposes. This explained German's need for "heavy water" from Norway, he said.

Hahn, 57, will receive the Nobel Prize in Stockholm Dec. 10. He now is president of a group of German scientists who plan to encourage a revival of fundamental research, particularly in the British occupation zone.

Teachers Call Off Strike When They Get $1,200 Raise

Minneapolis, Dec. 3 (AP)—Minneapolis teachers last night accepted a settlement giving them an ultimate $1,200 yearly salary raise and called off a threatened strike.

The settlement, reached by a committee which negotiated with the school board, was unanimously approved by Locals 238 and 59 of the American Federation of Teachers, A.F.T., Charles E. Boyer, president of the men's unit, announced, and Willard E. Goslin, superintendent of schools, said it would be formally ratified at a board meeting Dec. 10.

Instead of the current $1,600-$3,000 annual salary range, the stipulation provided:

A $150 cost of living bonus to be paid this month.
A flat $600 increase for all regular classroom instructors in 1947.
Effective Jan. 1, 1948, salaries from $2,000 to $4,200 for teachers with bachelors' degrees; $2,200-$4,400 for masters' degrees; $2,400-$4,600 for doctors' degrees, and $2,400-$3,800 for degreeless instructors. On that date, Goslin said, all teachers will be reclassified, with annual increases being figured on a basis of $200 so that instructors are enabled to reach their maximums in 12 years. Goslin estimated these changes would effect a $2,000,000 over-all increase in the annual school budgets.

In St. Paul, where the teachers strike entered its second week Monday, Councilmen submitted proposals for changes in the city charter they estimated would raise an added $3,885,000 yearly.

To enable schools, which were still being picketed, to reopen, the St. Paul Ministers' Association, representing Protestant churches, suggested Monday that the strikers sign a 60-day truce pending the balloting, a proposal on which teachers' leaders had not yet commented.

Talked Too Much

New York, Dec. 3 (AP)—Two detectives sat at a Times Square restaurant table early today, unashamedly eavesdropping while one of four young men at a nearby table discussed in frank detail the technique he employed in a recent holdup. New Senators

By BARNEY BALLARD

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 3 (AP)—John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky's new Republican senator, has a raw-boned, six-foot one-inch frame that would gladden the heart of any football coach.

In fact, he used to do just that to the heart of "Uncle Charley" Moran, who coached the Praying

Colonels of Centre College to national fame in the early 1930's. Cooper played for Centre in 1919 before entering Yale the following year. He received his law degree from Harvard.

The new senator's youthful face—he's only 45—and his blonde wavy hair are still sufficient to draw at least a second glance from admiring eyes. He wears his clothes well and always has that well-groomed appearance displayed in the fashion magazines. But Cooper's close friends say that underneath he is serious and studious.

He never has held state-wide or national office, although six years ago he tried unsuccessfully for nomination for governor.

In his first entry into politics at the age of 26 he was elected representative in the state legislature. He served one term, then became county judge. He was re-elected but declined a third term, which he was offered without opposition.

He was elected circuit judge while serving overseas with the U. S. Army.

Cooper entered the army as a private and advanced to the rank of captain before his discharge last January. After hostilities stopped, he supervised the reorganization of German courts in Bavaria.

Cooper's service in the army led to his marriage in 1944 to Mrs. Evelyn Pfaff of Portland, Ore. He met her while stationed in Michigan. She was a nurse at Percy Jones Hospital at the time.

Cooper's hobbies have been walking and swimming. He is quiet and earnest but impresses an audience with his seriousness and sincerity. All through the election campaign, he emphasized the necessity for some sort of world cooperation to assure peace.

Best opinion says he probably will take a middle ground in the senate, somewhat to the left of the "reactionaries" but to the right of any new deal philosophy.

Cooper was elected for the two years remaining in the term of about charges of collaboration just A. B. "Happy" Chandler, Democrat, who resigned in October 1945 to become baseball commissioner.

Saugerties Monday Club Celebrates Golden Anniversary at Home of Mrs. F. L. Russell

The Saugerties Monday Club celebrated its 50th anniversary Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fabian L. Russell, "Arrowfield," with about 60 members and guests in attendance. The club was organized as an outgrowth of the Kingston Monday Club by Mrs. Howard Gillespie with a group of nine women. Two of these charter members, Mrs. Fred S. Moulton and Mrs. D. G. Gale both of whom have moved from Saugerties, sent letters of congratulations to the club yesterday.

Greetings were brought to the club and guests by Mrs. Frank Mason, president. She introduced Mrs. Grant D. Morse who had charge of the program yesterday. Mrs. Morse read the letters from the charter members and also a note of congratulations from the president of the State Federated Women's Clubs.

Congresses were presented by Mrs. Morse to Mrs. John A. Snyder who has been an active member of the club for more than 40 years; to Mrs. John T. Washburn who has been connected with the club for almost the same length of time and Mrs. Anna Goerck who has been a member for almost 40 years. Mrs. Goerck gave the history of the club.

Miss Louise Driscoll read an original poem commemorating the anniversary. During the afternoon several musical numbers were presented. Mrs. Richard Jeffery played as piano solos, "Liebestraum" Liszt; and "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin. A girls' sextet from Saugerties High School accompanied by their teacher, Miss Shirley Hulbert sang "The Little Brown Clock," Kountz; "Little Thine Eyes," Mendelssohn; and "Homage," Del Rio.

Following the program tea was served and a 50th anniversary cake with 50 candles was cut by Mrs. Snyder. Mrs. Goerck and Mrs. Washburn assisted in pouring and serving the refreshments.

Joining in the celebration were representatives from the Catskill Monday Club and Catskill Fortnightly Club as well as Twentieth Century and Sorosis Clubs of Kingston. Those attending the celebration from the Twentieth Century Club were Miss Alice Seaford, Miss Mary Ingalls and Mrs. Raymond H. Woodard; from Sorosis, Mrs. Harry Parker Van Wageningen, Miss Lucinda Merritt and Mrs. A. Noble Graham. HOME PLANNING HINTS
Your kitchen is perhaps the easiest room to remodel — and usually the one that needs it most. While waiting for the new sink, range and refrigerator to arrive, why not start planning for some handy floor cupboards topped by work counters? A linoleum covering and splashback will prove both practical and attractive.

Second easiest room to bring up to date is the bathroom. Perhaps refinishing the floor and walls will do the trick; maybe new lighting fixtures are all you need to spruce up the room.

The Kingston Daily Freeman Reader Service booklet is packed with information about heating, building materials, kitchens, closets, financing, remodeling, maintenance.

STEMS DOWN OR UP?

The following letter comes from a woman's college: "In our class we have been discussing dances and this led (perhaps optimistically) to the wearing of corsages. We would like to know if there is a right way and a wrong way to wear flowers?"

When pinning on flowers which are unarranged, stems down certainly look more natural than standing the flowers on their heads. On occasion when their heads are very heavy and their stems too weak to hold them stiff, they have to be hung heads down. Of course, when a "corsage" has been made by a florist, the wearing of it depends upon its arrangement.

Related Return of Wedding Gifts
Dear Mrs. Post: I never have used my wedding presents because when my husband was sent on a foreign mission I came home to my parents. Our lovely wedding things were put away up the day we could have our own place. But this never happened and we now are divorced. What disposition should be made of these unused presents?

Answer: Wedding presents are returned only in cases where the marriage does not take place. However, it would be no more than right to offer to let your ex-husband have those presents which came from his family and friends.

Table Implements

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there any standard practice which stipulates the position in which one's knife and fork should be left on the dinner plate at the end of the course?

Answer: They should be left diagonally across the plate, handles together and well in from the edge so they won't topple over when the plate is removed. If you want to be very meticulous, have the handles pointing toward your right shoulder.

Men Seldom Included

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper or a "must" for the groom-to-be to be present at a bridal shower? What is the general practice?

Answer: As a general rule, shower parties include only the girl friends of the bride-to-be. But sometimes a party follows the shower and men are invited for a later hour.

Do you know your ABC's in manners? Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet, "A Test for School Boys and Girls," obtainable for a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station C, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Heavy Seas Slow Navy Expedition En Route to Canal

Vessels Roll in Swells Off Hatteras; Due at Panama Saturday for Rendezvous

Aboard the U. S. S. Mt. Olympus, Dec. 3 (AP)—Heavy seas made the going rough today as the navy's Antarctic expedition pushed southward heading for the Panama Canal.

Off Hatteras last night swells rolled the four ships of this contingent until dishes were smashed by the dozens.

The flotilla, which includes the flagship, a destroyer, a seaplane tender and an icebreaker, is due at Panama Saturday. After traversing the canal, the ships will head southward for a rendezvous with other vessels from west coast ports.

The 4,000-man expedition is under command of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd of Polar expedition fame. Four months of exploration and scientific-military testing are planned.

The departure of these ships from Norfolk, Va., yesterday was without formality and with only one touch of excitement. At the last moment, it was discovered that someone had stolen three of five pups which were to be mascots.

May Send Expedition

Communists Bid For Leadership in French Republic

Paris, Dec. 3 (AP)—The fate of a French Communist bid for leadership of the fourth republics first government, significant for the future of western Europe, was expected to become known today.

In the midst of France's fourth cabinet crisis within a year, the National Congress of Leon Blum's Socialist Party was scheduled to meet today to act on a Communist invitation to join in a two-party government with Maurice Thorez, secretary general of the Communist Party, as premier.

The new premier—Thorez is the only announced candidate for the post—will take over leadership from president of the council, Georges Bidault, who resigned with his ministers last Thursday, and will set up an interim cabinet to serve until formation of a permanent government in mid-January.

In a preliminary to its election of the interim premier, the national assembly was scheduled to convene today, before the Socialist meeting, to elect an assembly president, equivalent to the United States House speaker. Socialist Vincent Auriol was to have been the only candidate for the office.

A few hours before the assembly met, however, the Communists announced that, because of Socialist failure to make a prior agreement on division of the offices, they would present Marcel Cachin as a candidate for the assembly presidency and radical Socialist spokesmen said they would put forward Yvon Delbos as a third candidate.

The Communist bid for Socialist support grew out of the assembly election November 10. No party got a majority of the assembly's 618 seats. On the left, the Communists captured 180, the Socialists 101 and other leftwing parties 63. Bidault's centrist pop-

Association Votes To Close Registrar Office at Goshen

Chicago, Dec. 3 (AP)—Despite objections by some hard-core officials, the United States Trotting Association has voted to close its registrar's office at historic Goshen, N. Y., and a field office at Bellefontaine, Ohio, to centralize its activities in Hartford, Conn.

Will H. Cane, owner of the Good Time Park at Goshen, site of the Hambletonian and Stanley Johnson, New York attorney and harness horse owner, appeared before directors of the U.S.T.A. yesterday to try to avoid the move. "Sentiment favors retaining the office at Goshen," said E. Roland Harriman of Goshen, honorary president of the U.S.T.A., "but if the centralization will better the harness racing sport, that's what I'm most interested in."

U. S. Coastal Defenses Are Being Stripped

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3 (AP)—The nation's fixed coastal artillery defenses, historically the final grim line to repel invasion and naval bombardment, are being stripped down to a bare "caretaker" status, Army officials said today. The changed style of warfare is primarily responsible for the move although demobilization and economy presumably play some part in the decision.

The complete program will include eight events with a 25-circuit grind winding up the first card.

2,400 Students Get Another Holiday

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP)—The 24,000 public school students who normally attend coal townships 10 schools had another holiday today—the teachers were still on strike.

The teachers are asking higher wages, and John Mangie, president of the local union of the C.I.O.-United Public Workers, said last night that the two-day-old strike would continue until the school board grants a $300 bonus and year increases in salaries. Theodore Mersberger, superintendent of schools, stated the teachers' demands had the sympathy of the school board, but there was no money to grant the wage increases.

Rising Temperatures Are In Better Prospect

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—New Yorkers who experienced their second successive night of near zero temperatures, were cheered by a prospect of slowly rising temperatures today, but the U. S. Weather Bureau said that an end to the coldest weather of the season was not yet in sight.

The Weather Bureau, forecast two feet of snow today, said that the mercury would go higher than yesterday's maximums, but would not rise to the freezing mark. Slightly warmer was tonight's outlook.

Highways, on which icing conditions caused at least two deaths Sunday night and Monday, were reported by State Police "in good shape" today.

Early morning temperatures included Ticonderoga, 3; Glen Falls, 4; Elmira, 8; Binghamton, Utica and Fort Plain, 10; Albany, 12; Rochester, 14; Syracuse and Buffalo, 20 and New York (La Guardia Airfield) 21. Snow was reported at Utica and Syracuse.

Natural Gas Seen As Blow to Mine Workers in Area

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 3 (AP)—Use of the big and little inch oil pipelines to bring natural gas into Pennsylvania would cause "considerable economic dislocation" in the state's coal mining districts, says the Anthracite Committee. D. L. Corgan, secretary of the Commonwealth Agency set up to handle hard coal problems, said any move to convert the war-built pipelines for transportation of natural gas would be opposed "without exception" by anthracite and bituminous operators, the Railroad and the A.F.L. United Mine Workers Union.

"Thousands upon thousands of coal miners would be thrown out of work," he said after a meeting of the committee yesterday. "The result would be a financial loss to the Commonwealth in the form of extended unemployment and a lack of earnings."

In another development of the soft-spoken state officials conferred with representatives of the Solid Fuels Administration over what Governor Edward Martin's office described as "a co-operative plan of procedure" between State and Federal governments "in the event of an outbreak of violence in the current strike."

There have been no reports of violence in the State since the miners walked out November 21 and a statement from the Governor's office said "we are not anticipating any trouble" but wanted to clarify the State's position "in the event of trouble."

Recover Stolen Bicycle

Shortly after 7 o'clock Monday evening Ben Marchetti of 101 Green street reported to the police that his bicycle had been stolen from in front of the Montgomery Ward store at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. About 15 minutes after receiving the call Officers Krum and Schoonmaker recovered the bike at St. James and Wall street.

Screen Star George Raft was once a champion Charleston dancer.

Penn Yan, N. Police said the pair telephoned a friend Saturday afternoon from a hotel across the lake from their Bluff Point home that they planned to return home immediately. NOW you will not hesitate to wear a hearing aid as much as you need it and wherever you need it. Beltone's "Invisimold" will give you added assurance in social and business relationships.

FORWARD STEP

Just as the single unit is rapidly displacing the bulky and inconvenient separate battery cord and battery pack, Beltone's Single Unit Invisimold Hearing Aid will replace the old style aids with a conspicuous button in the ear.

Services Take Stand To Retain Pipelines

Washington, Dec. 3 (AP)—The army and navy told a congressional committee today that nothing should be done with the big and little inch pipelines that would hinder their quick use for oil transport in event of another national emergency.

As the government moved to press the lines into conveyance of natural gas for fuel relief during the coal strike, Adm. Frederick J. Horn, chairman of the Army-Navy Petroleum Board, gave the board's views on peacetime use of the lines.

Appearing before the House Commerce Committee, Horn said the 1,500-mile pipes from Texas to the eastern seaboard should be turned over to industry for peacetime operation, but that the board has no recommendation as to whether such use should be for conveyance of oil or gas.

all of which have asked to be heard, but it is uncertain whether any of them will be allowed actually to participate in the German discussions.

Byrnes said there were about seven questions into which the deputies should go in blocking out the future of Germany and, while he did not enumerate them, he made clear that they would include the boundary issues and probably the kind of government which Germany ought to have.

Joint Release

The joint Byrnes-Bevin press release on economic fusion of the German zone said:

"The two secretaries of state declared that they considered this agreement a first step in the economic unification of Germany as a whole which they hope will lead to discussions with the other occupying powers for the extension of these or similar arrangements to the other zones of occupation."

"The agreement contemplates an economic program designed to make the area self-sustaining in three years. By this program it is expected not only to decrease the costs of occupation for the area, but also to make possible the gradual restoration of a healthy non-aggressive German economy which will contribute materially to the economic stability of Europe."

The agreement provides for two classes of imports into the merged zone—those such as food and medicine for prevention of disease and unrest and those for the restoration of peaceful German industries.

Imports in the food category will cost the United States and Britain about $1,000,000,000 through 1949 but they are charging the sum on Germany's future account for ultimate collection, according to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. deputy military chief in Germany.

Discovers Fire Was in Adjoining Apartment

Assistant Secretary of the Board of Public Works A. Foster Winfield, of 170 Ten Broeck avenue, answered a still alarm call from Four Horse shortly before 6 o'clock this morning. On asking where the fire was he discovered that it was in the chimney of the house at 168 Ten Broeck avenue, owned by Mrs. C. Sagendorf. This is the other side of double house occupied by Mr. Winfield. No damage reported.

The firemen were called to answer two fires yesterday, neither of which resulted in damage. The first, yesterday morning, was in the chimney of the house owned and occupied by John Markle, at 98 Boulevard. The second fire, shortly after 9 o'clock last night, was in the smoke pipe of a kitchen stove in the apartment of Selar Ellsworth at 38 Abel street. Soot which had gathered in the pipe had caught fire. The pipe was cleaned out, no damage being reported.

Skerritt Is Chosen Fire Company Head

Harry Skerritt was elected president of the Hurley Fire Company at the annual meeting Monday evening. Mr. Skerritt succeeds Joseph Armater. Donald Kent was named vice-president and Paul Weber, secretary-treasurer. Winfred Snyder was named chief; Andrew Lehtonen, assistant chief; Wilson Markle, captain; Walter Stauble, foreman and George Van Sickle, Jr., assistant foreman.

Temperature Moderates

A report from the city engineering office this morning showed a slight moderation in temperature from Monday's low of 13 degrees, the low for the night being 15 degrees, at 5 o'clock this morning. Absence of the wind that prevailed Monday also helped to make things more endurable for the wayfarer man. The highest mark reached Monday was 19 degrees at 1 p. m. This morning some snow was reported in the mountain areas.

Air Scouts Take to the Air
The national executive board of the Boy Scouts of America has recently approved flights for Senior Scouts, according to D. Gregory Badger, scout executive of the Ulster-Greene Council. The conditions are not tough but they are extremely important in keeping with the safety measures imposed on aviation generally.

The local scout councils have a new form "Recognition and Approval for Senior Scout Orientation Flights." This form may be used as a release for Senior Scouts attending activities. Air flights may be provided and even the proper signatures, including that of the pilot have been secured, it is not necessary for an additional form for later flights, as long as the same pilot, the same plane and the same field are used. This is probably the most important change in Air Scouting achievement developed.

It is anticipated that this flight approval will give considerable impetus to the Air Scouting program and to all Senior Scouts in general.

Lights Saugerties Lantern

Miss Margaret Emerick, a senior Camp Fire Girl, lighted the lantern in Saugerties to mark the official opening in that village of the annual Christmas Seal Sales. The lantern is placed in the window of the Flower Garden which is appropriately decorated for the Christmas Seal project. It is the property of Mrs. John A. Snyder of Saugerties whose husband was a member of the board of directors of the Tuberculosis association for a number of years. The window was decorated by Mrs. Josephine Plimley and arrangements were made for the lighting to occur simultaneously with the lighting of the double-barred cross in Kingston Friday evening, November 22. Miss Emerick sold the first Christmas Seals to Mrs. Fabian Russell, chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale in Saugerties. Jan Morgan photographed the lighting. The sale will continue through December 25.

The joint Byrnes-Bevin press release on economic fusion of the German zone said:

"The two secretaries of state declared that they considered this agreement a first step in the economic unification of Germany as a whole which they hope will lead to discussions with the other occupying powers for the extension of these or similar arrangements to the other zones of occupation."

"The agreement contemplates an economic program designed to make the area self-sustaining in three years. By this program it is expected not only to decrease the costs of occupation for the area, but also to make possible the gradual restoration of a healthy non-aggressive German economy which will contribute materially to the economic stability of Europe."

The agreement provides for two classes of imports into the merged zone—those such as food and medicine for prevention of disease and unrest and those for the restoration of peaceful German industries.

Imports in the food category will cost the United States and Britain about $1,000,000,000 through 1949 but they are charging the sum on Germany's future account for ultimate collection, according to Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. deputy military chief in Germany.

Bergstrom Admits Helping 3 Convicts In Abortive Break

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—A veteran of six major European battles admitted in supreme court he was an outside accomplice in a spectacular, abortive escape of three Sing Sing Prison convicts on April 14, 1941, then hid from justice in the U. S. Army.

Charles R. Bergstrom, who fought as Pvt. James T. Ryan, pleaded guilty yesterday to having feloniously aided in the escape in which a guard and policeman were murdered, a convict died of a heart attack, one escaped convict committed suicide and the two recaptured died in the electric chair.

The indictment charged that Bergstrom was one of four men who smuggled revolvers into Sing Sing on axes of a milk truck for the convicts to use in escaping. Two accomplices were captured and received life sentences, while the alleged fourth is still at large. Chief Assistant District Attorney Frederick E. Weeks, Jr., said Bergstrom had other criminal convictions in his record but the escape offense would permit a suspended sentence or a jail term of three and one-half to seven years.

Detectors said they were unable to understand how Bergstrom's fingerprints had avoided detection when he enlisted in the army under another name. He was arrested July 30, 1945, after a four-year search when he broke into the home of his former wife in Brooklyn.

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Robert E. Copeland has added a macabre collection to her scrapbook—autographs by most of the late Nazi war criminals which, she said, her sergeant-husband got in exchange for a cigarette apiece while on guard at the Nurnberg trials.

Goering and others swapped signatures for cigarettes readily. Two accomplices were captured and received life sentences, while the alleged fourth is still at large. Chief Assistant District Attorney Frederick E. Weeks, Jr., said Bergstrom had other criminal convictions in his record but the escape offense would permit a suspended sentence or a jail term of three and one-half to seven years.
